About Me

I am a freelance marketing consultant and founder of Patsy Collins Consulting LLC.

I'm a marketing wiz with 5+ years of experience in digital marketing, social media content, graphic design, website design and brand strategy. I believe in the power of data-driven tactics and empathetic storytelling to drive results.

As an artist and community activist myself, I specialize in working with non-profits, small businesses, and educational institutions.

I received a B.A. from Emory University's Goizueta Business School, with a concentration in Arts Management.

NEW WORK

The choreographic impetus for much of staibdance's work is steeped in story-telling that identifies meaningful Iranian Armenian cultural traditions and reveals Staib's unique journey. Though deeply personal, the themes are universal - foibles, disappointments, joys, humiliations, fears, hopes - the human experience is limitless.

Since its founding, staibdance has premiered 8 evening-length works, toured to 5 cities and received support from the following funding organizations: National Endowment for the Arts, South Arts, New England Foundation for the Art, New Music USA and others.

ARARAT
Staib's newest work ARARAT premiered to sold out audiences in October 2023. ArtsATL.org describes, "ARARAT is a sobering stunner that confronts genocide, acknowledges it and shows us more fully the preciousness of life and the value of new beginnings."

fence
Premiered in 2019, fence combines intensely physical movement with traditional Iranian dance in a work described as "deeply affecting and rhetorically expressive" by ArtsATL.org. fence has since toured to 5 cities and performed at the American Dance Festival and Alabama Dance Festival.

EDC

The Emory Dance Company (EDC) fall concert in November featured five new works choreographed by 2023-24 Emory Arts Fellow Annalee Traylor, guest artist Celeste Miller, and Emory dance faculty Gregory Catellier, George Staib, and Lori Teague.

The works that premiered explored a wide range of topics including polyphonic chaos sounds, the cyclical nature of repair in the body, and the physical manifestation of expressivity.
